

Law Firm
P.V Skouris - E.K. Trova

The Law Firm Skouris Trova and Associates

The Law Firm was established recently by Eleni Trova and Panagiotis Skouris. After several previous years of successful co-operation, the two founders decided to combine the benefits of three generations' worth of experience of the law and their professional success to make their vision of creating a pioneering and innovative law firm a reality.

The law firm provides specialised legal services of a high professional standard, which are based on responsibility and a personal relationship with clients.

The requirements of financial life today demand an appropriate specialised and professional environment, which the Law Firm Skouris Trova wishes to create and offer its clients. At the same time it aims to offer effective services both in Greece and internationally.

The Law Firm's basic principle is to offer quality support to its clients and to provide specialised services delivered exclusively by legal counsels with specific experience and knowledge.

The partners and representatives

Eleni K. Trova

Docteur en Droit Paris II (1990), DEA Droit Public Interne (Paris II 1987). Lawyer specialising in public financial law, EU law, public contract law. A corporate legal consultant since 1990 who has acted as legal representative in arbitration and court proceedings. Author of books and articles.

Panagiotis V. Skouris

Doktor der Rechte (Dr. jur.) Universität Regensburg. Lawyer specialising in public law, administrative and constitutional law, EU law, corporate and competition law. Provides services concerning both litigation and consultation. Author of books and articles.

The specialised team

The lawyers' specialised team at the law firm consists of highly skilled individuals with dynamic personalities.

The high level of education, the in-depth knowledge of the science of the law and a willingness to undergo further education are virtues that are characteristic of the associates of the Law Firm.

Efficiency in collaborating with other associates and the ability to communicate with clients and other colleagues are essential attributes for the specialised team.

has created a high quality specialised office

The law firm P. Skouris - E. Trova provides legal services and, due to the specialised nature of the firm, it is able to place emphasis on offering service of the highest quality. The firm specialises in providing legal services to help with the development of large or smaller scale projects which rely on various forms of funding, the organisation of infrastructure, real estate development, organisation and development of energy sources, telecommunications, mines, quarries, corporate turnarounds and support services for investors. The office also has extensive experience of projects involving a number of objectives which require in-depth knowledge of particular areas of the law, such as banking, corporate, commercial and public law, urban planning law, mass media law, social security law, law and legislation concerning construction, public works, etc.

Since 1990 it has played an active part in all aspects of successful major public works carried out in Greece. It has been involved in these projects at all stages, from the tender procedure through to the final completion of the project. Throughout the various stages it provides services in order to help companies acquire the necessary licences, participate in tender procedures and draw up the required contracts.

The Law Firm Skouris Trova and Associates provides assistance to companies with issues relating to urban planning law, real estate development and licensing, matters of environmental protection, EU legislation and complex legal due diligence. It has taken part in privatisation and corporate turnaround procedures, whilst simultaneously dealing with issues of EU and national law.

Thanks to its nature as a specialised office, the firm has acquired extensive experience of working together with other lawyers on issues relating to other specialised matters and of working with legal offices abroad that provide integrated services. For the same reason Skouris Trova and Associates is often called upon to provide an expert opinion on issues relating to its field of expertise.

for today's financial environment

Skouris Trova and Associates specialises in providing services associated with contemporary public law, concentrating especially on public financial law, which of course involves European Community law.

Within the framework of contemporary public law it implements national administrative and constitutional law and commercial and private law are applied in tandem in accordance with the demands at any given time and the demands of the markets.

It specialises in financial law and focuses on legislation relating to self-financing infrastructure, construction projects (private and public), real estate development and corporate and investment issues.

The office deals with public contract law, (all forms of) contracts relating to private funding of projects and companies, energy law, telecommunications law, Mass Media law, company law and company turn-around plans, investment and corporate incentives law, real estate development legislation, sports law, urban planning and environmental law and tax legislation. As part of its work in this field, it performs legal due diligences, offers legal opinions, provides ongoing support to companies, carries out clients' instructions during invitations to tender of all types, provides legal counsel and offers full support on an in-court and out of court basis. To assist its clients with their business activities, it represents them during major negotiations.

in Greece and internationally

The office works on issues of national law, and is frequently called upon to act as a consultant and to collaborate with lawyers in different countries on complex issues where other legislation is involved in addition to Greek Law.

Skouris Trova and Associates has participated as legal consultants in a large number of projects which are now in progress or have already been completed in both Greece and Balkan states or in Balkan states alone, particularly in the Republic of Serbia, Romania and FYROM as well as in Turkey and Jordan. Most of these projects concerned energy and involved the construction of pipelines, electricity projects, dams, natural gas and petroleum pipelines. It also has experience of road building projects and public transport infrastructure in the Balkans, especially in the Republic of Serbia and Romania.

The office offers services in Greek, English, German and French.

in the following areas of expertise

- Financial law - Investment law
- Energy law
- Mining - Quarrying law
- Telecommunications law
- Sports law - Olympic Games law
- Tax law - Administrative Fines
- Environmental issues - Cultural heritage
- Antiquities law
- Urban planning - Licensing law- Compulsory purchase law
- Waste disposal law
- Education law
- Mass Media Law
- Construction and Funding of Infrastructure
- Public contract law - Public projects law
- Public supplies law - Public services law
- Self-financing infrastructure projects - Port Construction Projects - Ports - Tourist Ports - Airports
- Developing contemporary models for financing works - PFI, PPP, Public - Private Partnerships
- European Community law
- Business and Corporate law
- Company turnaround programmes
- Real estate development law
- Resolving disputes in court and out of court - Legal due diligence - Contracts

based on an innovative, pioneering team

Creating a professional organisation with full independence for its members and a structured form of equal partners is a major goal of the Law Firm, which wishes to avoid becoming a faceless entity.

This is also Skouris Trova and Associates' vision for the practice of the legal profession. This vision will be accomplished thanks to its team of eminent and distinguished colleagues.

In its quest for innovation Skouris Trova and Associates encourages young people and pioneers and strives to contribute to the progress of European legal thinking and the elevation of ethical business practices.

The main ambition is to develop a specialised approach to professional activities based on a strong team. If the right approach is taken, it can contribute to social and economic change and prosperity.

with creativity as its target.

The Law Firm Skouris Trova and Associates believes that creativity is a goal which is neither out of reach nor unrealistic, provided that imagination and continuing hard work are combined with realism and quality.

The ambition of the Law Firm's specialised team is to collaborate with its clients in a way that promotes their ideas and turns their expectations into a reality.

4, Bouboulinas Str., 106 82 ATHENS
tel.: 210 8834210, 210 8813475
fax: 210 8839286
e-mail: info@justar.gr